I. FACTORS CONSIDERED

18 U.S.C. § 3142:

(g) Factors to be considered.--The judicial officer shall, in determining whether there are conditions of release that will reasonably assure the appearance of the person as required and the safety of any other person and the community, take into account the available information concerning--

(1) The nature and circumstances of the offense charged, including whether the offense is a crime of violence, a Federal crime of terrorism, or involves a minor victim or a controlled substance, firearm, explosive, or destructive device;

(2) the weight of the evidence against the person;

(3) the history and characteristics of the person, including--

(A) the person's character, physical and mental condition, family ties, employment, financial resources, length of residence in the community, community ties, past conduct, history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history, and record concerning appearance at court proceedings; and

(B) whether, at the time of the current offense or arrest, the person was on probation, on parole, or on other release pending trial, sentencing, appeal, or completion of sentence for an offense under Federal, State, or local law; and

(4) the nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would be posed by the person's release.

II.

FINDINGS

As to factor:

(g)(1): The nature and circumstances of the offense charged involve a crime of violence.

(g)(2): The weight of the evidence against the person appears to strong and significant. The defendant, along with four other persons, brutally beat, kicked and stabbed a victim resulting in over 18 separate stab wounds to the victim.

(g)(3): The history and characteristics of the person

(A) Family ties, employment, financial resources, length of residence in the community, community ties, past conduct, history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, criminal history and record concerning appearance at court appearances indicate that the defendant has family ties. She is age 24 but only worked during the period from 2006 to 2007. As a result, the defendant's employment is intermit. The defendant has a long length of residence in the Cherokee community. In regard to the defendant's history relating to drug or alcohol abuse, the defendant has used methamphetamine, cocaine and marijuana but all of these substances have not been used for a substantial period of time. The defendant does consume alcohol on the weekend and becomes intoxicated. The defendant's criminal record shows that on February 12, 2003 she pled guilty to reckless driving which involved an alcoholic beverage.

The defendant's record concerning appearance at court appearances shows that the defendant has appeared as she has been required to do.

(B) At the time of the current offense or arrest, the defendant was on probation, parole or other release pending trial, sentencing, appeal or completion of sentence. It appears that this factor does not exist.

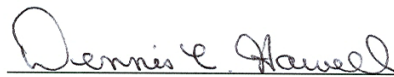

(g)(4): The nature and seriousness of the danger to any person or the community that would be posed by the person's release indicate that based upon clear and convincing evidence, the release of the defendant would create a risk of harm or danger to any other person or the community. A statement the defendant gave to the investigating officers shows that the defendant admitted that she had kicked and punched the victim numerous times over the course of several minutes. The defendant punched the victim in the face and on the nose. The victim then escaped from where he was being assaulted. The defendant and her co-defendant's chased the victim down and then continued to assault him. At that time, the defendant kicked the victim behind the left ear and in the center of the chest and "all over". The defendant further made a statement that she saw a co-defendant stabbing the victim and at that time the defendant was kicking the victim in the head while three other persons were standing on the right side of the victim kicking him. These facts shows a brutal assault committed by the defendant and her co-defendants. These acts show that the release of the defendant would create a risk of harm or damage to any other person or the community. As a result, the undersigned has determined to enter an order detaining the defendant.

The undersigned does not find by a preponderance of the evidence that the release of the defendant would create a risk of flight on her part.

WHEREFORE, it is ORDERED that the defendant be detained pending further proceedings in this matter.
